Making the Invisible Visible

with Sandra Dorr

a workshop on finding the multitudes of the inner voice

Tuesday, Oct. 2
5:30 -7:30 • Free
Central Library,
Grand Junction

Over the last two years of a writing residency, I learned to obey emerging form by entering into an interior voice that found an entry point for each person, each scene I'd witnessed, and bent it into something visible. This is a short master class in voice & desire, directing the line, discovering characters at vulnerable moments and borrowing language to hone fiction, nonfiction or poetry. Open to all levels of writers.

"I am larger and better than I thought. I did not think I held so much goodness."
— Walt Whitman

SANDRA DORR's forthcoming book, This Body of Light: Stories and Poems from Hospice, follows two nonfiction books and a poetry chapbook, Desert Water (Lithic Press, 2009). She has won 21 literary awards, taught at seven major Western universities, directed a writing program at WSU-Vancouver, and founded and directed the Western Colorado Writers' Forum in 2009-2013. www.sandradorr.com
